

Editor: Megan Thompson; Assistant editor:
Alaina Marler; staff: Aeddon Chipman;
Adrienne Pyeatt

THERE'S A SQUIRREL IN MY LOCKER

By Aeddon Chipman

I think I should tell you, RMS, how much I hate lockers. They're dark, metal; infuriating machines from the Dark Ages that malfunction so much that they would make Windows look great. Well, at least that's what I once thought about them, before I saw what caused them to malfunction.

See, you may think that once you put your stuff in your locker, it's safe. That's not true at all. Not only can a relatively dedicated student with a stethoscope break in and steal your iPod, iPhone, iPad, iFloor, or whatever, but your locker is also inhabited by squirrels. Yeah. Every day squirrels rush into your locker and steal your belongings. Those taken care of, the squirrels also take the liberty of messing up everything in your locker. They mess with your combination lock and make sure that opening your locker is the most convoluted task ever devised by man. Recently, I have actually discovered one of these squirrels in another student's locker. After opening the locker by a method I don't care to explain, I found a squirrel above a bag. Upon ripping the squirrel's head off, I discovered some sort of filling in it similar to the stuffing used in stuffed animals. Obviously, I inferred the squirrel must have used his psycho-alien-wizard powers to transform himself into a stuffed animal. Upon pulling the squirrel's insides (stuffing) out, I also discovered-

"HEY! WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO MY PRINCESS SQUIRREL, YOU JERK!?"

I saw a girl about my age that looked really mad. I was about to explain to her that I was in the middle of a breakthrough and should not be disturbed when she leapt on me and started punching and scratching my face. I quickly shoved her head up the squirrel's neck-hole and left her with the squirrel stuck on her head. After all, I wasn't going to let petty interruptions deter me from the case of:

THE GREAT SQUIRREL MYSTERY

THE FASHION QUIZ

What kind of style are you?

By: Adrienne Pyeatt

Q1. What would your favorite accessory be?

A. Your purse B. Your baseball hat C. Your zebra-striped hair bow D. Your brand name UGGs. Q2. What are your favorite colors to dress in?

A. Deep purple, soft yellow, royal red B. Reds, greens, blues, whatever your home team wears C. Hot pink, neon green, black, neon orange D. Yellow, baby blue, soft pink Q3. What is your favorite garment of clothing?

A. Your frilly skirt with lace and ruffles B. Your basketball shorts C. Your hot pink wide belt. D. Your shirt from Aeropostale.

Q4. When you wear make-up, how do you wear it?

A. I wear soft eye shadow colors like light tan. B. I never wear makeup. It's way to girly. C. I wear bright outstanding colors that no one could ever miss. I wear Lots of eyeliner, mascara, and eye shadow. D. I try to stay natural but sometimes I put a little on here and there.

RESULTS: If you picked more A's than anything else, your style is dressy-casual. If you picked more B's than anything else, your style is sporty- casual. If you picked more C's than anything else, your style is scene. If you picked more D's than anything else, your style is preppy-casual. If you didn't pick one more than any others, you are the perfect mix of styles!

The Strangers part 2 by Angela Bucher and Megan Thompson

I stepped onto the stage with my best friend Ella. Ella had her classic violin on her shoulder. I sat down at the piano and hit the G minor chord. Rose walked in the door to the actor's theater and sat down in the front row. All the sudden the lights went out. "Banita!" Ella cried my name. "Ella where are you!" I yelled for her. Just then all was quiet. No screaming, no sound at all. "Ella?" I whispered. It was cold. The lights flickered. I felt a cold hand grab my arm and I found myself staring into bloody eyes. I tried to scream, but nothing comes out. She opened her mouth and a pool of blood dropped out. Then the lights came on and everything returns to normal, but Ella's gone. To be continued...

Pictures: <http://cheap-fashion.us/>

Animals.nationalgeographic.com

ociointeligente.wordpress.com